Interview Summary

Applicants' attorney had a telephonic interview with Examiners Hao Mai and John Wilson on April 2, 2008. Claim 1 and the meaning of pliability as stated in the specification were discussed. No agreement with respect to the claims was reached, and further consideration and/or search will be conducted after the filing of amended claims.

Rejection Under 35 U.S.C. §102(b)

Claims 1-4, 7-8, 11 and 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Preciutti (U.S. Pat. No. 4,920,992). The rejection is respectfully traversed.

Claim 22 recites "a flexible means between the teeth-cleaning means and the handling means, wherein the flexible means is integral with the teeth-cleaning means and the handling means, and the flexible means is pliable so that it can be bent about 90 degrees to the right or to the left". Claim 31 recites "a flexible elbow between the cleaning head and the elongated handle, wherein the flexible elbow is integral with the cleaning head and the elongated handle, and the flexible elbow is pliable so that it can be bent about 90 degrees to the right or to the left" (see e.g. page 14, lines 2-9, 15-22; and Figures 2-3).

In contrast, Preciutti does not teach a flexible elbow which is integral with the rest of the apparatus as claimed herein. Instead, Preciutti only teaches a removable yoke (Figure 1) that fits into an opening at one end of a dental flossing apparatus (see Figure 3). Since Preciutti does not teach a pliable elbow which is integral with the rest of the apparatus as claimed herein, Preciutti does not anticipate the present invention.

Rejection Under 35 U.S.C. §102(b)

Claims 1-2, 7 and 9-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Halm (U.S. Pat. No. 5,052,071). The rejection is respectfully traversed.

Claims 22 and 31 have been discussed above. More specifically, the present invention teaches an apparatus comprising a pliable elbow that can be bent about 90 degrees to the right or to the left (see e.g. Figures 2 and 11). In contrast, Halm teaches a toothbrush comprising a plurality of transverse S-shaped folds (column 2, lines 28-33) that would only enable "the head-carrying portion 20 to move a short distance at an angle to the grip portion" (column 2, lines 50-52, emphasis added). It is clear that the flexible region as taught in Halm cannot be bent about 90 degrees to the right or to the left as claimed herein. Since Halm does not teach each and every aspect of the invention as claimed herein, Halm does not anticipate the present invention.

Rejection Under 35 U.S.C. §103(a)

Claims 3-6 and 11-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Halm (U.S. Pat. No. 5,052,071) in view of Neves (U.S. Pat. No. 6,102,051). The rejection is respectfully traversed.

Claims 22 and 31 have been discussed above. As discussed above, Halm teaches a toothbrush having a flexible zone in the handle that would allow the head portion of the toothbrush to move a short distance at an angle to the grip portion during usage. The Examiner cites Neves to provide teaching for a dental hygiene apparatus comprising a tapered portion.

comprising a "flexible elbow [which] is pliable so that it can be bent about 90 degrees to the right or to the left" as claimed herein.

Rejection Under 35 U.S.C. §103(a)

Claims 18-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Preciutti (U.S. Pat. No. 4,920,992) in view of Gordon (U.S. Pat. No. 5,184,719). The rejection is respectfully traversed.

Claims 22 and 31 have been discussed above. As discussed above, Preciutti teaches a dental flossing apparatus comprising a removable yoke member. The Examiner cites Gordon to provide teaching for guarding means that prevent users from using the apparatus.

Applicants submit that the present invention is not obvious in view of the cited references because the combination of the cited references fails to teach or suggest each and every aspect of the present invention. More specifically, the cited references in combination fail to teach or suggest an apparatus comprising "a flexible elbow between the cleaning head and the elongated handle, wherein the flexible elbow is integral with the cleaning head and the elongated handle, and the flexible elbow is pliable so that it can be bent about 90 degrees to the right or to the left" as claimed herein.
